

Introducing AMPLIFIRE™ The Healthy Energy Drink

Kevin Barry

AmpliFire™ is an exclusive combination of organic whole foods and nutrients that nourishes the entire body, providing a healthy and energizing energy boost—without the crash! AmpliFire utilizes an all-natural, environmentally conscious CO₂ extraction process that takes plant concentrates and renders them water-soluble, making them instantly absorbable by the cells and the brain. This proprietary process, called Aqueous Molecular Partitioning (AMP), preserves the essential oils, resins, and powerful antioxidant-rich phytonutrients of the whole plants, producing instant energy that lasts for hours! AMP unlocks the energy locked in natural plant concentrates and offers the kind of energy and nourishment that only nature can provide.

AmpliFire may support mental clarity, vitality, endurance, happiness, sustained energy, enhanced performance, and more vivid dreams. Here's a rundown of the amazing array of high-quality, all-natural ingredients found in AmpliFire:

Pure Water is the essential to re-hydrate the brain, and is required for healthy digestion and nutrient absorption.

Astaxanthin is a powerful antioxidant extracted from marine micro-algae. It contains important nutrients and protectants for the skin and for whole-body health. It crosses the blood-brain barrier, for use by the eyes, brain and central nervous system to alleviate oxidative stress that contributes to ocular and neurodegenerative diseases.

Orange has strong antioxidant properties, and with over 170 different phytonutrients and more than 60 flavonoids, it also has anti-inflammatory, anti-tumor, and blood-clot inhibiting properties.

Limes contain unique flavonoid compounds with antioxidant and anti-cancer properties. Limes have been shown to stop cell division in many cancer cell lines, and are beneficial for their antibiotic effects.

Ginger is famous for its healing powers. It can block the effects of prostaglandins and reduce migraine and arthritis pain, while lowering high cholesterol levels by its active ingredient, thromboxane.

Frankincense (Olibanum). This resin has been used for centuries for numerous health benefits, including anti-arthritis properties, and support for the respiratory, nervous, and immune systems.

Pomegranate (Punica Granatum). The juice from this exotic fruit is an excellent source of Vitamin C, Vitamin B, pantothenic acid, potassium, and antioxidant polyphenols, is especially effective at attacking free-radicals in the body.

Agave Nectar has been used for centuries for its health benefits, such as for the dressing of wounds and as a balm for skin infections. Agave's low glycemic index makes it a great natural sweetener.

Geranium (Pelargonium Adorantissimum) is an important mineral, beneficial in balancing the emotions and aiding in circulation.

Ylang Ylang (Cananga Odorata) is commonly used for aromatherapy and skin care, insomnia, depression and hypertension.

Tulsi (Super Basil) is prized as a healing balm for the body, mind and spirit. It is rich in antioxidants and is renowned for its restorative powers.

Aronia Berry contains up to ten times the amount of anthocyanins and polyphenols of blueberry and cranberry.

Passion Fruit (Passiflora Edulis) has a wrinkled, purple-brown rind enclosing flesh-covered seeds. Passion fruit is prized for its calming qualities and sweet flavor.

Turmeric is known for its use as a stomach tonic and blood purifier. It is used for a variety of skin conditions and minor injuries. It exhibits antioxidant, anti-tumor, anti-inflammatory, and anti-bacterial effects.

Peppermint is known for both its great taste and its soothing medicinal properties. Many people use peppermint for stomach ailments, to energize the body, and to provide digestive support.

Cranberry is loaded with nutrients and antioxidants. Cranberries support cholesterol and provide cardiovascular function. They also fight bacteria responsible for urinary-tract infections.

Rosemary is an antioxidant that contains substances useful for stimulating the immune system, increasing circulation, and improving digestion.

Roses contain high amounts of Vitamin C that supports the digestive system, while nourishing the body. Roses also contain Vitamin A derivatives crucial for replenishing skin, and strengthening hair and nails. Rose can calm the mind and open the heart.

Niacin (Vitamin B-3) is primarily utilized for energy metabolism, but is also an antioxidant that inhibits the formation of damaging free radicals. Niacin also lowers blood levels of LDL cholesterol and triglycerides.

Guarana is a safe and natural stimulant, which acts on the central nervous system to prevent fatigue and break down lactic acid from muscle stress. Guarana also discourages blood clots, stimulates the urinary system, and promotes production of digestive juices.

Neroli (Citrus Aurantium) is better known as orange blossom, neroli comes from the white blossoms of the bitter orange tree. This plant helps relieve stress and promotes cell rejuvenation. Its floral and refreshing fragrance also makes it popular for aromatherapy.

Chili Peppers (Capsicum) are great circulatory stimulants and pain relievers. Chilies (including cayenne) help fight pain, increase metabolism and ease nasal congestion.

Vitamin B-12 is important for the normal functioning of the brain and nervous system. It also provides increased energy, protects against cardiovascular disease, and aids in regulating sleep and appetite. Research also indicates that a B-12 deficiency may be related to depression.
