

Great News for Diabetics & Pre-Diabetics

Dr. C. L. Kennedy

Diabetes, known as “the silent killer,” takes more lives than any other disease in the U.S., especially when we factor in diabetes-caused heart attacks. Three out of four diabetes-related deaths are caused by heart- and blood-vessel (cardiovascular) disease. Currently 63 million Americans are diagnosed with diabetes and one in three are considered pre-diabetic. People with diabetes are two-to-four-times more likely to have heart disease than persons without diabetes. Even those with type 2 diabetes, who do not have heart disease, have an increased risk of having a heart attack. Diabetics tend to have other risk factors for heart disease including obesity, high blood pressure, and hardening of the arteries (atherosclerosis). Aside from shortening life expectancy by 15 years, diabetes greatly heightens the chance of dementia, impotency, foot ulcers, kidney failure, and it is the leading cause of blindness in adults.

That is why it is so gratifying to offer this news on what a world-renowned diabetologist calls, “a potential new standard in diabetes care.” No other diabetologist from medical academia has previously proposed that a dietary supplement could be a new standard in diabetes care. What we find interesting here is that the two worlds of alternative medicine and medical academia appear to be meeting in agreement on GlyPerfect’s positive effects. The product is rigorously based on established medical research but its “smart molecule technology” solutions are all from the garden of life. As a promising development, Biopharmaca uses natural, safety-tested ingredients which do not pose any health risks or produce any negative side effects.

At our clinic, we are dedicated to serving the health of our fellow human beings. We carefully evaluated this MD-endorsed product and found it of exceptional use for people who are diabetic, pre-diabetic, or who have Metabolic Syndrome X. It normalizes blood-sugar levels by removing the source of inflammation, thereby naturally restoring pancreatic function. It does not artificially lower blood-sugar levels. Restoring pancreatic function for type 2 diabetics by means of a natural bioflavonoid represents the best of all possible worlds.

Let’s consider how a dietary supplement could be more effective than a synthetic drug. In Central America and northern parts of South America, the native tribes did not typically have diabetes. When they migrated to cities in Mexico and the U.S., their incidence of diabetes went up 800% per year!

63 Million Americans are diabetic, one in three are pre-diabetic. Diabetes is the #1 cause of death in the U.S., counting diabetes-related heart attacks.

The Samoans likewise did not have a high incidence of diabetes. However, when they migrated to Hawaii, their incidence also went up 800%. They began eating the SAD (Standard American Diet), excessively comprised of processed sugars, preservatives, and synthetic chemicals that express, or cause, some auto-immune diseases. GlyPerfect is an all-natural product derived from fruits and trees. The bright colors of fruits and vegetables come from naturally occurring flavonoids. GlyPerfect is a highly specialized combination of rare flavonoids designed to nutritionally address damage caused by excesses and omissions in the unnatural, or SAD diet.

Luteolin is the patented flavonoid in GlyPerfect. The product was designed to safely address the root cause of diabetes. Until now, no pharmaceutical or natural supplement in medical history has been able to precisely address the root cause of diabetes in an effective and safe manner. We carefully examined the science behind this because Biopharmaca prudently makes no specific claims aside from guaranteeing that the product will meet the expectations of its users, if taken three times a day, or the cost of the product will be refunded.

For blood sugar disorders, Luteolin is cited in medical literature to address Kv1.3+, the channel necessary for proliferation of CD 4, and CD 8, NK T-Cells, that cause severe and mild blood-sugar disorders. The capacity for Luteolin to close down the channel where killer cells inflame the pancreas has likewise been published in peer-reviewed medical literature. Biopharmaca broadly calls its "smart molecule technology" a "preventative effect."

This is actually the first time in history that a safety-tested dietary supplement has been able to directly reverse symptoms of a major disease like diabetes. This is exceptional news. Most supplements typically help people on a broad or system-wide basis. Few can target a specific disease to reverse symptoms.

Patricia Ahearn, MD, said, "In addition to my own favorable results, my patients' diabetic symptoms improved after taking GlyPerfect. Their symptoms improved and damage was reversed."

Ferre Akbarpour, MD, said, "Finally there is a product to reduce HbA1c and BGL for the diabetic naturally. I am excited to recommend GlyPerfect to my patients." These statements from MDs have been verified for this article.

Patient testimonials state reversals of neuropathy and normalization of blood sugar. We spoke with Dick Freeman, an aerospace engineer who stated, "In 2002, I had a heart attack. I am presently 79 years of age, and have had diabetes type 2 for 20 years. I took GlyPerfect and my blood sugars normalized for the first time in 20 years. My climbing HbA1c dropped from 8.12 to 6.2. All neuropathy is gone, and I can walk again without pain. My doctor says I no longer have diabetes symptoms."

Gerald Nicoll, a geologist stated, "After three weeks of taking GlyPerfect, I noted a dramatic drop in my blood sugar level. I have had readings of 150 to 165 prior to taking GlyPerfect, and some as high as 300+ml/dl on the glucometer. I noticed improvement after two weeks and even greater improvement after the third week. For the first time in over ten years, my fasting blood-sugar levels are within normal range. This morning I was at 105. My oral medications, diet, and exercise were not able to altogether keep my blood sugar under control."

Having examined the research and verified statements from MDs and patients, including seeing results with patients in my own practice, I can state that GlyPerfect significantly relieves mild to severe blood-sugar imbalance symptoms and normalizes blood glucose levels (BGL) and HbA1c levels. ■
